

SOUTH WEST HEALTH CAMPUS BUNBURY WA

This 200-bed health campus is the first collocated project to be undertaken in WA as a joint venture with two independently operated hospitals constructed on the same site with shared services and amenities

Buildings are grouped as a campus connected by covered links with public and private hospitals zoned adjacent to common public and service facilities. Thus the shared facilities; including operating suites, hydrotherapy, radiology, consulting, emergency, stores, kitchens, café and short term family accommodation are clustered around a central landscaped court.

Essentially all habitable spaces were structured to embrace the landscape or an internal courtyard view to maximise engagement with the site. Externally the informal massing, simple, architectural forms and regional materials evoke the character of the South West.

The campus has attracted visitations from international health professionals due to its innovative co-location structure, and is acknowledged as an outstanding success.

CLIENT: St. John of God Healthcare System + Health Department of WA
VALUE: $70M

